

Satchmo Will Give Concert Thursday

Few if any tickets are available for the Louis Armstrong and his Jazz All-Stars concert Thursday.

The concert will be held in the chapel-auditorium beginning at 8 p.m.

Armstrong, the "Ambassador of Jazz," has already become a legend in America and abroad. He recently completed a tour of Africa and has toured Europe and Australia.

ARMSTRONG WAS born in a back alley of New Orleans on July 4, 1900. He first learned how to play the bugle and then the cornet while in a waifs' home after the separation of his parents.

Armstrong prepared the way for the swing music of the 1940's. He is a versatile artist—a singer, comedian, trumpet player, motion-picture star and composer—all combined into an enormous character.

DAR MEYER, general concert chairman, stated, "Campus publicity under the leadership of junior Betty Haefs has really stimulated interest."

Students are requested not to drive to the concert because of inadequate parking facilities. The doors will not open until 7:05 or 7:10 p.m.

Meyer also stated that a sign-up sheet will be posted in the Union for students who would still like tickets. They will possibly be able to purchase some tickets which might be left over from off-campus sales.

He emphasized that no saving of seats will be allowed.

Dress-up night has been changed to Thursday night next week because of the concert.

J. Paynter Leads Band

John Paynter of Northwestern University Music Department will be the conductor of an All-Star Band meeting at Wartburg this weekend.

This first Mid-American Intercollegiate Band will be composed of selected students from Cornell, Iowa State Teachers College, Iowa State University, Iowa Wesleyan, Luther, St. Olaf and Wartburg.

Rehearsals will be Friday and Saturday. They will be giving a concert at 7:30 p.m. in the chapel-auditorium.

Nominations Open

Nominations for freshman, sophomore and junior class presidents and senators open Wednesday, according to Elections Chairman Duane Nelson.

Deadline for nominating presidents is Sunday, April 16, while deadline for senators is Tuesday, April 18. Nomination forms are in the Student Senate office.

20's Roar Tonight At Yearly Carnival

By Darrell Jobman

"Hoop-de-doo, eyes of blue and 23 skiddoo." There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight — at least at Wartburg in Knights Gymnasium.

Tonight's the night of the annual campus carnival, featuring "The Roaring 20's — Wartburg Style," beginning at 7 p.m. Proceeds go into the student body project fund for improvement of campus side-walks.

WINNERS WILL be determined on a penny-a-vote basis and will be crowned following the auction, according to junior Lynn Meier, carnival chairman.

About 25 organizations will have concessions, among them W-club's pie-throwing booth, Chi Rho's dunking tank and the usual jail. Also in the line of concessions is the cakewalk. According to Meier, almost 50 cakes have been donated by the faculty and staff.

"I THINK THERE will be prizes for both the Charleston contest and the best costumes," said Meier. "I'm not sure yet."

The familiar auction, with such items as picnic lunches and a plane ride, will again be a feature, starting around 9:30 p.m.

"We're setting a goal of $500," said Meier. "Everything's going good. I hope it goes over all right."

Wartburg Will Adopt New Block Plan For Secondary Student Teaching Level

The block plan of student teaching will be adopted at Wartburg next year.

According to Dr. Herbert Max, head of the Education Department, about fifty secondary teachers will teach full days for seven weeks during first semester.

Student teachers will be divided into two groups, one teaching the first seven weeks' period and the other the second seven weeks' period. Six credits will be given under the program.

While not teaching, students will attend accelerated classes offered in all departments. According to Dr. Max, these classes will most often be courses required or recommended for education majors.

About ten schools in a 20 mile radius of Wartburg will be involved in the program. Some students will live in the communities where they teach.

"Places in the Waverly school system will be reserved for students in activities who can't be away from the campus," said Dr. Max.

The new system has been approved by the Teacher Education Committee, the Educational Policies Committee and the faculty. During the past three years individual students have taught under the block plan.

"This system is in accordance with the modern trend in teacher education," commented Dr. Max. "It's recommended by the National Council for the Accreditation for Teacher Education."

Elementary teachers will adopt the full-day plan during the 1962-63 school year.

Under the present system, secondary students earn six credits by teaching either one hour a day for eight weeks during two semesters or two hours a day eight weeks one semester.

Twenty Class Agents To Be Here Monday

About twenty class agents will be on campus Monday to organize their aims over the next few years, according to Alumni Director Robert Gremmels.

The agents, representatives of graduated classes of Wartburg who keep in touch with the various members of their classes, will discuss long-range plans and coordination of the program.

Excavation Leads Schedule

Excavation for the new women's dormitory is proceeding ahead of schedule, according to foreman George Meier of the Henkel Construction Company.

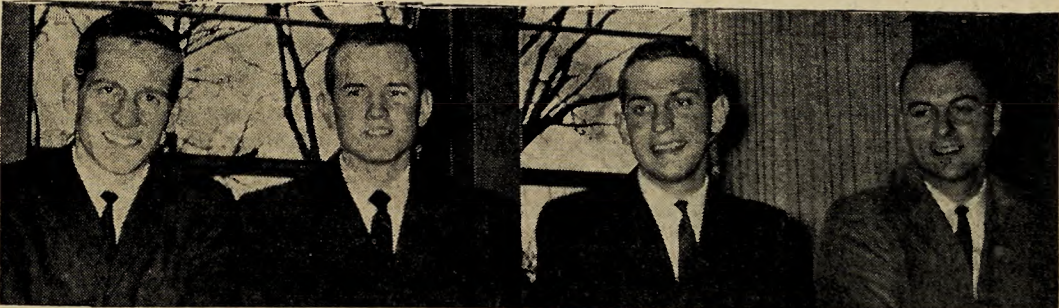

Work on footings and walls, scheduled to last to the middle of May, is also ahead, says Meier, who worked on the previous addition to Centennial Hall as a carpenter. He has since been advanced to his present position.

The masonry is scheduled for completion at the end of August, lath and plaster work should take from September through part of December and interior painting from December to the end of February, 1961.

This schedule would permit girls to move into the wing in March.

Possible delays could be caused by the weather and late arrival of materials.

Coach Bundgaard Resigns, Will Move To S.D. State

Dr. Ax Bundgaard, athletic director and basketball coach, will leave Wartburg College this summer to take over as athletic director and director of physical education at South Dakota State.

At SDS Dr. Bundgaard will leave coaching to devote full time to the athletic directorship and the chairmanship of the Physical Education Department.

In making the announcement of the resignation, President C. H. Becker indicated that considerable study will be made in order to find a good replacement for Dr. Bundgaard.

During his 13 years here as cage mentor, Dr. Bundgaard had only three losing seasons, his first three years. Since that time he never finished below .500, winning 187 games during his career and losing only 111.

Included were Wartburg's first four Iowa Conference basketball championships, one Tall Corn Holiday Basketball Tournament title, and seven post-season basketball tournament bids.

Alpha Makes Grade In Annual Contest

In the annual first semester gradepoint derby, Alpha House walked off with the honors for off-campus housing with a 2.9 average. Vollmer Hall out-classed the dormitories with its 2.8.

Announcements of rankings was made at Tuesday's convo.

J. Moniz To Lecture

James Moniz, Economics Department, will give a lecture on money and economics in Fuchs Lounge at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday. The lecture is sponsored by the Academic Life Committee.

Student To Be Appointed To Ed. Policies Committee

After a fight of six years, a student will be appointed to the Educational Policies Committee next year.

Members of the Faculty Committee voted to admit a student in an advisory capacity at their meeting March 28. There were two dissenting votes. The student will be appointed by Wartburg Pres. C. H. Becker.

The Committee, which with the exception of the members-at-large is appointed by Dr. Becker, is instrumental in the formulation of academic policies.

Previous faculty objections to allowing a student on the committee included the student's lack of experience to cope with the problems presented, wonder at how much the student would gain and a feeling that some sessions should be restricted to faculty members.

Dr. Becker originally made the proposal in 1955, and student body governments since then have worked for representation.

EDITORIALS—

'I Was Led To Believe . . . '

The first paragraph of the letter from Senior Leroy Scharnhorst printed elsewhere on this page, brings out a sore point with all editors — freedom of the press.

As far as the Trumpet staff is concerned, this paragraph gives an erroneous impression of restrictions imposed on the paper. Yet, as Mr. Scharnhorst pointed out in private conversation, this impression is held by a number of students.

Therefore, the first paragraph of the letter has been printed as the writer's impression and this editorial has been written to clarify the Trumpet's position on controversial issues.

To begin with, the Trumpet most certainly deals with controversial articles. Ranging from the Who's Who election wrangle last fall through the presidential campaign, ecumenicity comments, satirical letters and Knights 'n' Daze, hot issues have been handled throughout the year.

If any controversial subjects have been missed — and if there are any, we would like to know what they are — it has been due to the oversight of the editor, not the censorship of the administration and faculty.

Although the Trumpet has no desire for rabble-rousing, just for the sake of rabble-rousing, the paper does not intentionally sidestep touchy subjects. Yet certain standards of conduct in this area must be maintained.

For example, complete accuracy — which sometimes involves unmasking opinion setting itself up as fact — is of prime importance. In the past, not all letters to the editor have been accurate; some were composed of half-truths. Needless to say, these are unprintable.

A factual error in the letter in question has been corrected.

Another factor to consider is whether a controversy will be best remedied by publicity or silence. Good taste must also be observed.

The Trumpet enjoys as much freedom as any other school or commercial paper. Of course, it has its restrictions. All papers do.

To be blunt, any restrictions on the Trumpet are most likely to result from the public relations function of the paper. The chief example of this was the elimination of cigarette advertising two years ago.

Yet last year a satirical editorial seemingly running Wartburg nine feet into the ground was printed. It caused no end of misunderstanding and certainly was not good public relations. No pressure whatsoever to stop such articles was applied.

The Wartburg as reflected in the Trumpet is not perfect. If the paper were controlled by the faculty and administration, this is where the control would most likely appear.

Freedom of the press is controversial in itself. We at the Trumpet believe we have it. Look at the product and judge.

Education On The Block

Beginning next year Wartburg, like many other schools across the nation, will put its secondary student teachers on the block plan.

How the new system will work here is, of course, questionable at this time. However, it should provide a more realistic experience for prospective teachers.

The present system of teaching one or two hours a day for eight weeks is at best artificial and at worst farcial. The student teacher is never quite sure if what he is going through is what real live teachers experience. He may be terribly disillusioned the next year when he gets his own school or he may quit before he has to take the chance.

Regarding the block plan as a cure-all would be a mistake, but it does appear better than the present system.

Of course, adjustments will be necessary, especially during the first few years. Programs will have to be worked out so that accelerated courses required or recommended for future teachers may be taken during the block semester. Students must plan ahead so that a two-semester course required for graduation does not crop up during the senior year.

Yet even as students must adjust to the block plan, so also must the plan adjust to the students. Those people who must continually be on campus because of organizational membership will be stationed in Waverly.

All in all, taking adjustments into consideration, the block plan is a welcome innovation.

In spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of summer vacation.

Give a man enough rope, and in this capitalistic society he'll probably sell it for a profit.

K. D. Briner's Comments Draw Attack

April 4, 1961
To the Editor:

I have always wanted to see the Wartburg Trumpet take sides on controversial issues. However, I was led to believe the faculty and administration would not allow this.

Yet K. D. Briner is allowed to write articles for the Trumpet like he is the schoolboy version of Jack Paar, and the faculty and administration allow them to go to print. But then Democratic Briner's articles appeal to the noisy Democrats who supposedly speak for the faculty and administration.

I AM WONDERING why the Young Republicans on campus have not raised objections to Briner's articles of Democrat gossip. But they possibly realize that Briner's remarks against Erbe are only an attempt to cover fantastic blunders of the previous Iowa administration.

Help Appreciated By Businessman

March 29, 1961
Mr. Herb Engelbrecht
Wartburg College
Waverly, Iowa
Dear Mr. Engelbrecht:

Yesterday morning as the flood waters were still rising in our cellar, a half dozen stalwart Wartburg men in working clothes volunteered their services to help us carry merchandise up from our cellar. We want you to know we appreciate this spirit and generous offer very much.

Very truly yours,
George Kerwin

Briner

Knights 'n' Daze

As one whose mistakes would fill volumes, I am generally not given to commenting on one more error in judgment. However, one evening last week I made a dreary mistake which may end up making me rich.

To make a long story short, I sat down one night last week and watched a science-fiction epic on the late show. Now, I am sure that I could write a movie script as good as that one.

So far as I can tell, all you need are a situation and a few standard lines. While I haven't written any scripts yet, I have started a good catalogue of key speeches. Following are a few of them.

HORROR MOVIES

1. "What do you think it could be, Dr. Smith?"
"I'm afraid to think."
2. "What do you mean, the un-dead?"
3. "Where's your daughter, Dr. Smith?"
"Well, I don't know. I thought she was with you. You don't suppose . . ."
4. "No, don't shoot! You'll hit my daughter!"
5. "Now that we're off that horrible island it all seems like a bad dream."

WESTERNS

1. "Don't forget, Fleagle, this was their land before it was ours."
2. "I'll forgive them thievin' savages when I can forget how they burned our cabin and shot my wife. Go talk your forgiveness to the Ladies' Aid, Reverend."
3. "Thunder Cloud, the Grandfather in Washington is angry when you break your treaties."
"The Grandfather sends his dog-soldiers to kill my braves, burn my teepees and trample my rutabaga patch. The iron horse frightens the buffalo and eats the wood of our forests. This is why Thunder Cloud wears the war paint."

WAR MOVIES

1. "I know I could be All-American this year, coach, but lots of guys my age are over in those jungles right now. I've got to go, coach."
"Lance, you're a real man. I only wish I could go. I'm retiring your jersey, boy."
2. "All right, you scum. This ain't no Cub Scout meeting. Quit thinkin' about your girls back home and march!"
3. "I'll bet you never thought we'd make honor company, huh Sarge?"
"Just call me Tex, Lance. Have another beer."
4. "Ermatrude, we've got to be sensible. In 48 hours I'm leaving, maybe for good."
"I don't care, Lance. I've got you now, that's all that matters. I'll write every day."
5. "What's up, Sarge?"
"Come on, men, we've got to get Lance before the Shore Patrol does. He got a Dear John from Ermatrude. She eloped with a bird-cage cleaner from Menomonie."
6. "Lance, we can't tell you how proud we are that Beaver Creek's only Medal of Honor winner is back with us."
"Thank you, sir, and I'm sure I'll enjoy being President of the bank."

I hereby promise to put my first Oscar on permanent display in the Little Theater.

Lynes some day. It will be interesting to see how he plans to unseat the popular rural Republican.

Baseball Play Begins Today

By Paul Mardorf

Weather permitting, the 1961 edition of the Wartburg College baseball team takes the field today in a doubleheader at Loras of Dubuque.

This year's squad is loaded heavily with eleven lettermen, with at least one at every position.

As for a probable starting lineup, Head Coach Earnest Oppermann said, "It's hard to select one due to the fact that we have had only three workouts outside."

HE LISTED the probable lineup as follows:

Marv Ott at first base, Darwin Oehlerich at second base, Kermit Urbain at shortstop, Don Sowers at third base, Al

Exner behind the plate and Jim Borcharding on the mound.

He was quick to say, however, "This lineup is very tentative and may be changed by game time."

"WE ARE TAKING more pitchers on this trip than usual," Coach Oppermann added, "because we have to find out who can get the job done for us."

Next week the Knights are on the road again, this time at Parsons in a doubleheader at Fairfield.

Coed Volleyball Playoffs Scheduled Monday Night

Hank Giesman and Duane Huth will lock horns Monday night in the coed intramural volleyball playoffs. The public is invited. Starting time is 7:45.

Duane Huth won the National League championship, running its winning streak to five straight games by defeating Dan Basinger.

Hank Giesman dumped Larry Anderson to win the American League crown. Giesman finished with four wins and one loss. Other American League games Thursday night saw Neil Stuhmer outpoint Jerry Potter and Jim Boyenga knock off Denny Krominga.

Dick Dellabella nipped Mark Geddes and Don Lehmann beat Leon Oltmann in the National League.

7 Netmen Show For Tennis Play

Wartburg's tennis coach Ax Bundgaard has been greeted with only seven candidates up to this date.

Badminton, Softball Slated Next In IM's

Badminton and softball are scheduled next in intramural activities, according to intramural committee chairman Don Ringgenberg.

Anyone interested in badminton should be in the gym Saturday, April 15. The definite time will be announced in the convocation bulletin.

Softball sign-up sheets will be posted in the near future. Playing will start when weather permits.

Bundgaard

Dr. Ax Bundgaard, athletic director, has resigned to assume a similar post at South Dakota State.

Dr. Bundgaard released this statement to the Trumpet:

"To the athletes and students of Wartburg College I wish to say that it has been a distinct pleasure to work with this group.

"We know that continuous interest on the part of the students will be given to the Athletic Department, and Wartburg will continue to be one of the most enthusiastic student bodies in the state of Iowa.

"In leaving Wartburg I cannot help but think of the many fine young men, past and present, it has been my privilege to coach. I shall never forget them for what they have given me."

Weather finally permitted the trackmen to get outside for workouts, and freshman Bob Wachholz takes advantage of it to practice his pole vaulting.

Cindermen Face Dubuque At Dual Meet Wednesday

The Wartburg Cindermen travel Wednesday for a dual meet with powerful Dubuque. Track is a major sport for the Spartans and they are always tough. They placed second in the Iowa College Indoor Meet two weeks ago with a score of 32½.

In the same meet the Knights, with 14 points, tied for seventh with Buena Vista. The only winner for Wartburg was Ed Skay in the 50-yard dash with a time of 5.5.

Other track men who hit the scoring column were Len Schmidt and Jerry Schara, who both tied another man for third in the high jump, and Dixon Zander who placed third in the pole vault.

Coach Dave Olson was happy with the results. He stated that this was a considerable improvement over last year's performance in the same meet.

9 Wrestlers Win Trophies

Nine wrestlers won trophies Wednesday in intramural wrestling.

Bob Fliehler won the 147 pound weight class, defeating Ed Nieman. In the 157 pound weight division Darwyn Meyer became champion by beating Darrol Bauer. Don Ringgenberg decisioned Leon Oltmann to win the 177 pound championship.

Terry Schneider, wrestling in the 191 pound class, whipped John Klautt. Denny Krominga outpointed Marlyn Eitmann to become the heavyweight champion of intramural wrestling.

Dan Knobloch, 123 pounds; Denny Reis, 130; Darrell Gehrke, 137; and Jack McClelland, 167, won their respective classes by default.

Don Hein Named For Team Honor

Wartburg basketball ace Don Hein was recently named to the McMurray College Highlanders first all-opponent team. Wartburg played and defeated McMurray in the first round of the Tall Corn Tournament during Christmas vacation, 81-68.

A dance will be held in the Little Theater next Friday from 8:30 to 11 p.m. The Serenaders, a 15-piece swing band composed of Wartburg students, will furnish the music for the dance.

Tomorrow night Chi Rho has scheduled its banquet in the cafeteria. This is a yearly event and promises to be very enjoyable.

On Tuesday, April 11, Hans Sachs is meeting in 110 Old Main. Come one, come all!

Dr. C. Richard Evenson, director of parish education of TALC, will speak at a joint meeting of Four R's and Phebes Wednesday, April 12, at 7 p.m. in Clinton Hall lounge. Everyone is welcome.

Now that we're all slowly recovering from the mid-semester grades, whether it be good news or the other kind, it might be wise to plan the rest of the semester to include some of the activities we are presently members of in name only.

Our activities can work for us only if we first work for them. Remember, busy people are happy people!
